

Special Packaging 1

Invocation of this clause requires Supplier/Seller to deliver all contractual products to be packaged in a manner that meets or exceeds industry standards while mitigating any damage to parts during transit that withstands horizontal stress, vertical force, multiple handling, loading and unloading, moisture, shock, and shattering. Packaging must also be protected against impact, mildew, rust, corrosion, heat, and any other possible and unforeseeable environmental factors. When necessary, critical parts that can be subject to damage from regular normal transit must be packaged in a segregated manner that will preserve and retain the original manufactured final state of the parts and preserve its intended end use.
